

Many thanks to Colin Stuart and his company, Offset Systems Service Corp., for their expertise in the installation of the equipment for our folding carton manufacturing facility.

In May of 2002, the managers of what would soon be Venture Packaging, Inc. spent the better part of a year talking to machinery dealers, brokers, and riggers in their efforts to buy a long list of machinery to completely equip an all new folding carton, manufacturing plant. It was very evident that finding knowledgeable suppliers was almost as difficult as it was finding honest suppliers. Time and again our questions were answered quickly and honestly by Colin Stuart, owner of Offset System Service Corp., located in Harvard, Illinois.

Our first machinery acquisition and installation went so well that we subsequently used Colin to assist us in locating and installing every machine in our plant, except one. This one exception turned into a complete nightmare. Colin assisted us in recovering from our mistake and we will never go elsewhere again.

Initially, Colin's prices appeared high, but experience has proven time and again that his services have been the best value we ever could have hoped for. His team of technicians does quality work, and always present themselves and Offset System Service Corp. as first class professionals.

We expect Colin and his team to be partners with Venture Packaging, Inc. for many years.
